

IN HONOUR

*Dr. Neville and Senator
Vivienne Poy*

"I love music in all forms and cannot imagine man's existence without it. It enhances our appreciation of the beauty of nature and our enjoyment of life."

DR. NEVILLE POY

Neville and Vivienne Poy share a strong belief in the transformative power and critical importance of music.

As long time supporters of The Royal Conservatory, the Poy's also recognize the tremendous value of music in an educational setting as a catalyst for learning and expression. "We now also understand the important role of music in facilitating the learning process," says Neville. "I encourage all parents to provide their children with opportunities for music appreciation by enabling their participation in and enjoyment of music."

Neville and Vivienne chose to name two seats in Koerner Hall to create a permanent testament to their lifelong love of music, and to contribute to the work and success of The Conservatory.
